Which begs the question: if drug supply and demand is so disastrous for our economy, why are there no serious efforts to reduce alcohol supply and demand? Heard any calls to set quotas on how much Budweiser can be manufactured, like the DEA restricts scheduled drugs? How about removing funny sexy beer ads from TV? How about mandatory 12-month alcoholic rehab for any drinker who commits a crime? I'll bet you an ounce of Oregon green bud that there is more lost productivity from drinkers hungover on Mondays and cutting out early on Fridays than from any pot smokers on the workforce.
